PRESS REVIEW

MONTAGNE SAINT-EMILION AOC

CHATEAU FLAUNYS 2016

Le Point

♥ COUP DE CŒUR 16/20 - "A red fruit nose with vanilla and fruity scents on the palate. A wine with good structure, fresh, voluptuous, lively to the finish, nice fruit, very elegant" Tasting Jacques Dupont, Primeurs 2016

Yves Beck

89/100 - "Crimson colour with streaks of violet. The nose is very expressive, marked by notes of flowers like violets. Juvenile character; the wine gains in complexity after airing. It is quite sharp on the palate, full of character and pure. A lively juicy wine, very interesting and surprising. To be followed while ageing. I find it full of promise" Novembre 2018

JAMES SUCKLING.COM

91pts - "A ripe, succulent and supple wine for this appellation with a fresh, minty finish that makes it stand out in the crowd. I love the full, fresh-blackberry bouquet. Pure merlot. Drink or hold." Feb19

JEB DUNNUCK 89pts "The ruby/purple-colored 2016 Château Flaunys comes from sandier soils and is all Merlot raised in a mix of barrels and tank. It has a sweetly fruited, medium-bodied, charming style as well as notes of black raspberries, cedary spice, ripe cherries, and underbrush. With good tension and purity on the palate, the elegant style of the vintage, and plenty of character, it's a terrific little Saint-Emilion to drink over the coming decade or so." (28/02/2019)

GOLD, 86/100 - "Beautiful intense ruby with dark purple tints. Lovely nose showing stone fruits and floral accents. Perfumed attack leading into an easy-drinking, indulgent, rich palate. Flavourful spice character, precision and delicious firmness on the finish." Tasting 2018

Le Monde

"The bouquet of this wine will, immediately wake up your palate. The mouth actually reveals full-bodied, well balanced with tasty tannins that have been finely worked. A meticulous work which gives a nice wine with a solid structure and a fine length." Supplement of Thursday 25 April 2019

"We enjoyed this wine with its characteristic and lingering notes of small stone fruits, rich and colourful as needed, with spicy and ripe fruit nuances (redcurrants, cherry) on the palate, noticeable but sweet tannins." Edition 2019, page 2015
